

QUALITY POLICY

Drurys Engineering operates a quality management system, based on the requirements and philosophy of ISO 9001 and AS 9100.

The policy of the company is to ensure customer requirements are met by monitoring processes, resources, and product quality and customer feedback.

Quality objectives are established and performance against these objectives is reviewed to cultivate continuous improvement and improve the effectiveness and safety of the quality management system.

The procedures, processes and standard referred to in the company Quality Management System must be available and complied with by the entire workforce. The requirements of this policy are mandatory and shall be communicated to the workforce at all levels.
